

Standing united for pets:

Join Maine's Shock-Free Coalition

The pet care professionals who have joined forces in this ad care deeply about dogs. That is why we are committed to eliminating the use of electric shock in the training, care and management of pets. Studies show that shock devices are unnecessary and have the potential to be very dangerous. That's why experts such as the Pet Professional Guild (PPG) and the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA) are also against the use of these devices.

Whether you are a dog parent or dog owner, an animal welfare organization (shelter or rescue), a dog breeder or dog club, or a pet care professional (boarding kennel, canine behavior consultant, doggie daycare, dog trainer, dog walker, pet food and supply retailer, pet groomer, pet photographer, pet sitter or veterinarian) we invite you to learn more and to sign the pledge. Help us stop the use of electric shock!
